-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, see applicant's argument, filed on 3/14/06, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 21 under 35 USC 103 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Kobayashi solely in which is provided from last office action.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claim 21, 22, 24-30, 32-36, 37-39, and 41-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kobayashi (US006633759B1).

Per claim 21, Kobayashi discloses a method for enabling a wireless client device to communicate with at least one server having one or more applications residing thereon, the method comprising the steps of: enabling the wireless client device (see figure 9 and item 2) to select an application residing on the at least one server (see figure 9 and item 1); enabling the wireless client device to select at least one application action associated with the selected application residing on the at least one server (see column 2 and lines 30-40); executing the at least one selected application action on the at least one server, the application comprising at least one of opening at least one file within the server, closing at least one file within the server, editing at least one file within the server, and searching at least one file within the server (see column 2 and line 49-51); formatting at least one application output associated with the at least one selected application action based on a profile of the wireless client device and a user selection of more fields associated with the at least one file (see column 8 and lines 32-65), transmitting the formatted at least one application output to the wireless client device (see column 8 and lines 65-67).

Per claim 28, Kobayashi discloses a wireless communication system comprising: at least one server having one or more application thereon (see column 8 and lines 47-51); and at least one wireless client device comprising: at least one wireless client device comprising: a views/folders module that enables the at least one wireless client device to display options associated with a selected application residing on the at least one server (column 9 and lines 40-49); a default and custom actions module that enables the at least one wireless client device to select at least one application action associated with the selected application to be executed on the at least one server, the application action comprising at least one of opening at least one file within the server, closing at least one file within the server, editing at least one file within the server, and searching at least one file within the server; and a forms module that enables the wireless client device to view at least one application output associated with the at least one selected application action (see column 10 and lines 52-64).

Same arguments apply, mutatis mutandis, to independent claims 33 and 38.

Per claims 22, Kobayashi further teaches that the user would be able to select at least one application such as email software (see column 4 and lines 35-38).

Same arguments apply, mutatis mutandis, to claims 32 and 37.

Per claims 24 and 41, Kobayashi further teach that the profile of the wireless client device comprises at least one of a feature of the wireless client device and a command associated with previously selected application action (see column 10 and lines 27-35).

Per claims 25, 42, Kobayashi further teaches that the feature of the wireless client device comprises at least one of an input interface, a display, and a data processing feature (see figure 1).

Per claim 26, 43, Kobayashi further teaches that formatting the at least one application output comprises at least one of removing an object or artifact contained in the at least one application output, and altering the object or artifact contained in the at least one application output to reduce an amount of information that the object or artifact contains (column 10 and line 65-column 11 and line 10).

Per claim 27, 44, Kobayashi further teaches that the wireless client device comprises at least one of a data-capable wireless phone, an interactive pager, or a personal digital assistant (see figure 9).

Art Unit: 2618

Per claims 29, 30, 34, 35, 39, Kobayashi further teaches that a customization module that enables the at least one wireless client device to customize at least one view of the at least one application output wherein inherently the customization module further enables the at least one wireless client device to customize at least one of a display language, a time zone, a date format, and a font format (see column 11 and lines 4-23).

Conclusion

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Yuwen Pan whose telephone number is 571-272-7855. The examiner can normally be reached on 8-5 M-F.
